What is Optically Clean® Technology?

Committed to providing pristine, unadulterated salt, our proprietary Optically Clean process eliminates all foreign materials and flawed crystals while leaving the raw salt just as natural as the day it was harvested: no washing, no chemicals and no tampering with Mother Nature’s components.

Optically Clean®

Depending on its natural environment, sea salt inherently contains traces of foreign materials like sand, shells, rocks, seaweed, or clay. Of course, none are harmful, but these elements can be especially unwelcome or problematic for many applications.

Using state-of-the-art high-definition cameras and lights, our Optically Clean method captures each grain of salt in real time. The system then instantly reviews the cascading salt crystals to ensure that each and every one meets our strict quality guidelines. This technology is so advanced, it can detect undesirable foreign particles that are smaller than a grain of sand! If a grain of salt doesn’t match our criteria, a targeted burst of air removes the small interloper while leaving ideal grains untouched.

This revolutionary technique, coupled with our other exacting quality assurance processes, produces the cleanest, mineral-rich sea salt ready for distribution, repackaging, or production of high quality food products.

SaltWorks Optically Clean Technology distinguishes our salts as the purest on the market.

Flake Sea Salt

Flake salts are some of the most unique and interesting of the specialty salt varieties. Perfectly orchestrated timing plays a key role in their formation and density.

As opposed to a long, solar evaporation process that produces traditional, granular sea salts, under the right conditions, flake salts form quickly on the surface of the water. Time & temperature must be just right to produce the ideal texture - from the delicate, thin flakes of Pacific Blue® Kosher, to the large, dense pyramids that comprise Cyprus Flake. No two flake salts are alike, and each has its own distinguishable qualities. These salts are a mild and balanced choice for a variety of bulk applications. When used as a topping to a gourmet product or dish, they offer a pop of salty flavor up front, enhancing all of the flavor nuances of the food, and then quickly getting out of the way, careful not to overpower. Not to overlook their other best asset: flakes are crunchy, providing a palpable satisfaction with each bite.

For food processors & manufacturers, flake salts are an ideal choice for topical applications, in spice blends or in soups & sauces. The texture creates eye-catching visual appeal for topping products. For freezer-to-oven applications, they can also be produced in encapsulated form for bulk manufacturing. Their light & fluffy consistency also means that they combine well with other dry ingredients for blends, and dissolve evenly & quickly in a soup or sauce.

Renowned chefs worldwide recognize French sea salts as the most sought-after varieties, and this isn’t a new culinary phenomenon.

French Sea Salts

Since the 8th century, both the Vikings and the Celts helped to establish the French Atlantic coast and Brittany Peninsula as the most dominant salt trading regions in history—and some are still thriving today.

Climate & Location: To efficiently produce all-natural, solar-evaporated sea salt by hand, conditions have to be just right. The marshlands off the coast of France get the perfect balance of rain, sun, and wind: an ideal place for salt ponds, using the tides, canals, and man-made dams to fill with fresh seawater. The communities in this region were originally established by the Celtic people who took advantage of the idyllic setting for harvesting this precious sea salt. Relying on the environment for hundreds of years, these salts became the region’s most valuable agricultural product. The time-honored tradition of paludiers (or salt workers) and the sustainable culture built around it remains a valued part of France today.

Harvesting Technique: French sea salts are probably most unique for the care taken during each hand harvest, aptly called the Celtic method, which utilizes the seawater, wind, sun, and only wooden tools. The paludier lets water into the clay-lined salt pond. Using a traditional wood rake, he gently scrapes the salt into piles along the side of the pond where it can dry, being mindful not to disturb the pond’s clay lining.

Signature Characteristic: These French sea salts are hand harvested each year when the crystals are young and newly formed. This creates the sought after texture and high moisture content that this unique salt is prized for.

Fleur de Sel
French Flower of Salt

Delicate, moist and beautiful. Fleur de Sel is known as the “caviar of salt.” The quintessential finishing salt choice for fine foods, Fleur de Sel is cherished for its unique texture and balanced flavor. Using centuries-old Celtic harvesting techniques, this salt is carefully culled by hand from the surface of clay-lined salt ponds in the Guérande region of France using only wooden tools. The unique natural crystal formation combined with gentle harvesting techniques results in a delicate, fluffy texture that retains its natural flavor and higher moisture content. Offering a delicate crunch, Fleur de Sel is ideal for finishing dishes, topping confections or high-end snack foods. In spice and seasoning blends and for repack.

Sel Gris - Brut
French Grey Sea Salt

This treasured all-natural sea salt from France elegantly captures the strong, briny flavor of the sea. With its trace minerals and moisture contributing to this variety’s recognizable grey color, the raw, large irregularly-shaped crystals of Sel Gris Brut grain are the traditional, un-sifted size gleaned from the traditional Celtic harvesting methods. This size is popular with food manufacturers for topping baked goods and confections, as well as on snack foods, frozen foods and desserts that call for a hefty topical salt crunch.

Sel Gris - Grinder
French Grey Sea Salt

Treasured by consumers for its mild flavor, texture and mineral-rich content, the irregular shaped crystals of French grey sea salt are now offered in a new grain size. Grinder grain. Historically, the high moisture content of this hand harvested salt has prevented it from being used in a grinder – until now. SaltWorks® has taken the traditional form of this salt, put it through our Optically Clean® process, before air drying the grains. This exclusive process produces a distinctive gray salt, perfect for the tabletop grinder. Food manufacturers are also taking advantage of the new version of this salt, as it makes a unique topping to confections, breads and snack bars.

Kosher Salt

Kosher Certified salt meets the guidelines of kosher as outlined by Jewish law. SaltWorks® partners with the Orthodox Union (OU) to certify its entire line of salt products. The OU is widely regarded as one of the most prestigious kosher certification agencies in the world, and is trusted for its commitment to quality and excellence. All of SaltWorks’ gourmet sea salts, including our handcrafted smoked salts and Fusion® flavored salts, have been certified kosher by the OU.

Kosher Style flake salt is categorized by its distinctive flake crystal. Interestingly enough, it is believed that this style of salt took on the name “kosher” because the unique texture and shape are useful in the process of koshering meat.

The texture and shape of kosher style salt is lighter and more delicate than a typical fine grain table salt. Kosher style salt also dissolves quickly and evenly into foods during cooking and melds wonderfully with other flavors. It is a great salt to use in spice blends because the light texture mixes well with other ingredients.

Clean Label & Organic

Clean Label: Once a trend, clean label is now the new standard. “Clean Label” refers to the simplifying of ingredient lists—using fewer ingredients that are easily recognized (and easy to pronounce) and are natural, not artificial. All SaltWorks salts are clean label friendly. Never chemically treated or refined, our salts do not contain artificial ingredients or anti-caking agents.

Organic Compliant: While there is not yet an organic certification for salt in the United States, SaltWorks salts are all natural, free of additives or chemicals and comply with organic standards. These salts can be used in organic and non-GMO products without changing the organic status of the end product. (The SaltWorks Fusion line of flavored salts is all-natural and additive free, but may contain ingredients that are not organic or organic-compliant. Please contact our sales team directly with specific questions.)
Fusion® Naturally Flavored Sea Salt

Inspired by our philosophy that pure, natural ingredients simply taste better, Fusion® flavored sea salts are a delicious and innovative way to infuse authentic taste and saltiness into any dish or product.

These unique, flavored salts exclusively from SaltWorks® are made entirely of just two authentic ingredients. Our proprietary flavoring processes infuse a pristine, pure sea salt with a real whole food ingredient. The ingredient is naturally bonded to each and every salt crystal, resulting in a flavorful concoction more impactful than just a seasoning blend. We never use binding agents, artificial flavors or colors.

Perfect for the restaurant kitchen, baker, chocolatier and food manufacturers, these inventive salts will take products to a new level. Fusion salts work best in topping applications that benefit from the beautiful natural colors, flavors and textures. A new generation of gourmet natural flavoring, Fusion salts will add vibrant color, texture and variety to chips and salted snacks, on top of chocolates and confections, and in frozen desserts, entrees, potato products and vegetables.

Our Fusion salt collection is an innovative selection, created using one of SaltWorks’ three different proprietary processes.

Liquid Fuse: The genuine flavor is gained through a proprietary process of liquefying whole natural ingredient before fusing them with the salts.

Dry Fuse: This method is used when we want to combine the flavor of a liquid with the salts. We use several unique processes based on the liquid to concentrate the flavor.

Fusion Blend: Simply whole ingredients blended with their perfect sea salt companion.

Repacking & Storage Tips

Fusion®: SaltWorks® Fusion line of sea salts is completely unique in its composition, production methods, and flavoring. SaltWorks strongly believes that all-natural ingredients are healthier, more nutritious, and more delicious than artificial ingredients and colors. These real, whole ingredients differ in color from batch to batch depending on the time of year that the ingredients are harvested. Variations in color are to be expected and do not affect the integrity of the salt.

Fusion products are made without anti-caking agents or preservatives. If not packaged or stored properly, salt will absorb moisture from the air causing it to clump & harden or become sticky. To minimize this, we use oxygen absorbers and silica packs in our packaging. We recommend that you consider this when repacking.

A Note About Salt: As salt is naturally hygroscopic, proper storage and packaging is essential to deter clumping. It is imperative to store and re-pack the salts in airtight containers and store in a cool, dry area. It is important that the salt is not left exposed to moisture or humid environments. We suggest repackaging in a temperature controlled facility.

Shelf Life: While salt itself never expires, we recommend the following “Best By” dates:

- SaltWorks Unflavored Salts: 10 Years
- SaltWorks Smoked Sea Salts: 10 Years
- SaltWorks Fusion Sea Salts: 3 Years
- Truffle Salts: 2 Years
